

EXCHANGE AGREEMENT

Part I – Involved Costs

Customer is being charged an exchange fee and will be notified if there is a repair cap of the returned core. Customer's return core is to be in generally accepted repairable condition.

Standard exchanges in which the repair expenses exceed the notified repair cap will not be considered acceptable cores. Failure to return a repairable core will result in Aero Components & Electronics, LLC executing any or all of the following options including:

- 1) Converting the exchange to an outright sale.
- 2) Charging additional repair costs in addition to the flat rate fee.
- 3) Billing both the outright sales price in addition to the exchange fee being charged.

Part II – Core Return (s)

- A. Core(s) due must be returned within 14 days for all domestic destination and 21 days for all international destination, unless prior notification is given and approved in writing by Aero Components & Electronics. If core is not received at Aero Components & Electronics by the established due date, a weekly late fee in the amount of 10% of the exchange fee will be billed. In the event a customer cannot return a core within 60 days of the order date, the exchange will be converted to an outright invoice along with any late fees accrued to date.
- B. Return core(s) found to be Beyond Economical repair (BER) will be subject to invoicing of the outright price, repair costs for evaluation and shipping costs. Aero Components & Electronics, LLC reserves the right to convert the exchange to an outright sale and/or charge 10% of the exchange fee per week in the event that parts required to repair the core(s) are either unavailable or back ordered past 60 days. Aero Components & Electronics, LLC reserves the right to have evaluation and certification of core(s) to be completed at the repair facility of their choosing.
- C. Original exchange units returned for credit will be subject to a restocking fee of 25% of the exchange fee or $250 (USD), whichever is greater, and if the original certification documents are not returned with unit, the price of recertification will be applied. Prior authorization is - required to return any unused units for credit. Original units received back after 10 working days will be assumed to be exchange cores. Original units that are returned having been used or without the original, will be considered to be exchange transactions and the customer will be billed accordingly.

- D. If the customer paid via credit card for exchange, all applicable billing (recertification fees, late fees, repair fees that exceed repair cap, and outright price) will be charged to customer's credit card. Customer will be notified of any and all charges. If litigation becomes necessary to enforce this agreement, the customer agrees to pay all attorneys and court fees.

By signing, the customer confirms acceptance of these terms and conditions.
